Why are Speed Limits so Low at Toll Booths?

Why we need to go so slow when paying electronically.

You're cruising down the highway at a good clip, making good time and enjoying the feeling of the road swiftly passing beneath your wheels when you come to your exit. As you wind your way around the off ramp, you notice a slow moving glut of brake lights ahead of you. You glance up at the transponder attached to your windshield and think, not for the first time, "If my toll gets paid electronically, why are the speed limits so low at toll booths?" BESTPASS and Landstar: Partnering to Benefit Drivers in More Ways Than One.

We are launching a campaign with Landstar System, Inc, one of the largest Owner-Operator based logistics companies in the US to offer BESTPASS services to their drivers while generating donations to Landstar's BCO Benevolence Fund. BCO is Landstar's term for Owner Operators who lease onto them. Their Benevolence Fund is a separate non-profit organization established to help drivers and their families in times of need. BESTPASS will donate

$5 to the fund for every Landstar driver who signs up for the BESTPASS service. Read the full press release here.
